

ALL ENGLAND PAYS TRIBUTE TODAY TO HER DEAD HEROES

SCOTT'S LAST MESSAGE TO THE ENGLISH PEOPLE FINDS READY RESPONSE.

FACE DEATH BRAVELY

Glory in Their Great Labor—Nation to Care For Those Left Dependent Upon The Dead.

London, Feb. 11.—Grief and pride in the heroic narrative of high courage, endurance and sacrifice given in Captain Robert F. Scott's farewell message to the world are close competitors for dominance in the feeling of the British public today.

"It is a white and not a black mourning we wear for these gallant souls who have done and dared so greatly," was the comment of a cabinet minister today.

The closing words of Captain Scott's epic were: "Had we lived I should have had a tale to tell of the hardships of the end, and the courage of my companions which would have stirred the hearts of every Englishman."

"The rough notes and our dead bodies must tell the tale; but surely, surely a great and rich country like ours will see that those who are dependent upon us are properly provided for."

These words have had an electric effect. Steps have already been taken to respond to his appeal to the nation by assuring a comfortable future for those dependent on the men, who, while awaiting certain death still could write that they did not regret their journey.

Captain Scott's interest in the welfare of his men was emphasized by practically the last business he transacted before he left to join the expedition in New Zealand. This was the tale of his story.

He declined to make any private profit from the transaction and decided that the total receipts would go to increase the financial reward of the men who had undertaken to share with him the dangers of the Antarctic region.

Therefore it was arranged that all sums realized from the story of the adventure should be distributed among the members of the crew as a surprise bonus on their return to England.

Mrs. Scott is assured of a good pension from the British government. A memorial service for Captain Scott and his companions is to be held in St. Paul's cathedral on Friday. Flags in all parts of London are flying half-mast today.

Offers Sympathy.
Washington, Feb. 11.—President Taft today sent the following cable message to King George of Great Britain: "In offering heartfelt condolence on the death of Captain Scott and his companions I reflect the sentiment of my countrymen, who share the sorrow of the British people at the loss of so many noble lives."

REPLY OF ROOSEVELT TO TAFT EXPECTED

Politicians of All Parties Awaiting With Keen Interest Speech in New York Tomorrow.

New York, Feb. 11.—Politicians of all parties are awaiting with keen interest the speech to be delivered by Colonel Roosevelt at the Lincoln birthday dinner to be given at the Hotel Astor tomorrow night under the auspices of the National Progressive club. Colonel Roosevelt, it is understood, intends to make some stirring remarks that will be in the nature of a reply to President Taft's speech at the Republican rehabilitation banquet held recently in this city.

Other speakers at the banquet tomorrow night will be former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, ex-Congressman A. Bourke Cockran, and Oscar S. Strauss, the Progressive candidate for governor of New York last fall. Women are to be admitted to the banquet on an equal footing with the men. They will be given seats at the festal board instead of being relegated to the gallery, as at most gatherings of the party.

More, there is to be a woman speaker on the program, Miss Mary Antin, the Russian Jewish author, whose recent book, "The Promised Land," created a sensation.

CHICAGO APARTMENT HOUSES ARE BURNED

Five Hundred Firemen and Forty-Three Engines Fight Menacing Blaze This Afternoon.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Five hundred firemen with forty-three engines and other apparatus were called upon to fight a dangerous fire which broke out at 80th street and Washington avenue here this afternoon. The fire started in the Ingham flats containing eighty-three apartments, and spread to the Kail apartments across the street, destroying both. A high wind and inadequate water supply rendered the work of the firemen difficult. Numerous buildings in the neighborhood, including the Chicago Motor Cycle Club building, were threatened. At 1:30 o'clock the loss was estimated at $200,000 and firemen were fighting to prevent further spread of the flames.

VIOLENT POLITICAL RIOTING AT TOKIO IS REPORTED AT END

Seventy People Killed in Fighting on Streets of Capital Last Evening—No Disturbances Today.

Tokio, Feb. 11.—Violent political riots broke out in the city of Osaka today. The offices of the newspapers which support Prince Katsura, the premier, were attacked by great mobs and several deaths are reported.

City Quiet Today.
The situation in this city was quiet today. The rioting of last night in which seventy persons were killed or seriously injured, ceased in the early hours of the morning. The severe cold impelled the mob to seek shelter. There were no further disturbances up to midday, and the authorities withdrew the patrols of soldiers from the streets. The rioting appeared to convince the government of the futility of endeavoring to continue the Katsura regime, and after a meeting of the cabinet and council of elder statesmen, called by the emperor at the imperial palace this afternoon, it was semi-officially announced that the resignation of Katsura and his colleagues would be accepted.

To Accept Premiership.
Count Gombel Yamamoto, formerly minister of marines, has signified his willingness to accept the premiership together with the leadership of the old constitutional party of which the Marquis Saionji is now chief. Prince Katsura will, in the meantime, proceed with the organization of his proposed new progressive party.

Official announcement of the change of administration will probably be made before the diet meets again on Thursday.

Official announcement was made today of the resignation of Prince Katsura, the Japanese premier, together with his cabinet. Count Gombel Yamamoto is to be officially installed as the office of premier tomorrow. Baron Takaaki Kato, formerly ambassador to Great Britain, will retain the portfolio of foreign affairs.

DEFENDS THE RULE OF CHICAGO BOARD

President Andrew Makes Statement in Regard to Government Anti-Trust Action.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Regarding the suit to be filed by the government against the Chicago board of trade of operating in restraint of trade, President Andrew today expressed the opinion that the very rule complained of promotes instead of stifles competition.

"Before the board passed the rule that the price of a grain at the close of the open session of the board must remain the over night price until the opening of the regular session the next day, competition all but died," said President Andrew.

"Four or five of the heaviest dealers would agree upon their own over night price. Our rule fixes one price for all has brought about the competition which the law demands for in place of the former tight little coterie sending out an agreed bid to the country over night there are now three or four hundred traders doing so."

The university has no facilities for isolating illness among students from chickenpox, measles, mumps, etc. Owing to the congested condition of rooming houses, the danger of the rapid spread of contagious diseases is considerable.

MAHON INTRODUCES MINIMUM WAGE BILL IN ASSEMBLY TODAY

Industrial Commission Given Increased Power in Important Piece of Legislation in Interest of Labor.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 11.—Departing from all former rules laid down in fixing a minimum wage by statute, the assembly today moving by Assemblyman Mahon of Elkhart, a resolution to lay down a new policy in labor legislation. The Industrial Commission is empowered to enforce the law and with certain specific safeguards to fix the amount of a living wage.

Following out the line laid down in a bill, introduced in the assembly two years ago by Assemblyman Mahon creating the State Industrial Commission, the bill presented by him today broadens the scope of that act. While original in plan, the idea contained in the measure is being followed by leading economists. There is nothing in any of the other wage acts in America approaching the feature of this bill. Here is one paragraph of the bill that will bring joy to every wage earner: "Every wage paid or agreed to be paid by any employer to any female or minor employee except as otherwise provided in section 1729s-2 shall be not less than a living wage."

Defines Living Wage.
A living wage is defined in the act as a "compensation for labor sufficient to enable the employee receiving it to maintain himself or herself under conditions consistent with his or her welfare."

These two sections of the act give a latitude to the measure not approached by any other law, and the bill does not fix a specific amount; it permits this amount to be determined by the Industrial Commission upon investigation. Living conditions vary so much in different sections of the country that Assemblyman Mahon has deemed it advisable to incorporate this as the leading principle around which the legal details of the law are built. The law lays down two different systems of investigation: one for the living wage of females and another for the living wage of minors. Upon a complaint from a female that the living wage paid by a certain employer is not sufficient to maintain her standard of living, the Industrial Commission shall appoint one person, the employer appoint two and the employee appoints two, making a board of arbitration of five who take all the facts relating to the wages and the living conditions in that city or locality to make findings upon which the Industrial Commission bases its order, fixing the living wage. In the case of a minor, the method of procedure is somewhat different. There the Industrial Commission makes an independent investigation and fixes the wage that shall be paid.

The methods of procedure are fully outlined in this bill to safeguard the employee from any embarrassment that might be subjected to.

Minors Safeguarded.
All minors working in an occupation for which a living wage has been established for minors and who shall have no trade, shall, if employed in an occupation which is a trade industry, be indentured. The bill defines "trade" or a "trade industry" as one involving physical labor and characterized by mechanical skill and training such as render a period of instruction reasonably necessary. According to the terms of the bill, the Industrial Commission shall investigate and declare what occupations and industries are included within the phrase a "trade" or a "trade industry."

All minors working in an occupation for which a living wage has been established for minors, but which is not a trade industry shall be subject to the same provisions as minors between the ages of fourteen and sixteen.

Every person employing three or more females or minors shall register with the Industrial Commission. The blanks provided for this purpose demand a variety of detailed information as to the nature of the work and the compensation paid.

System of Fines.
To safeguard the employee, the laws provide that any employer who discharges or in any way discriminates against an employee because the employee has testified or is about to testify in any investigation or proceeding relative to the enforcement of this act is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of twenty-five dollars for each offense. If an employer continues to employ a person at less than a living wage, after the Industrial Commission has determined upon the matter, he may be punished by a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $50.00.

The provisions of the bill have been carefully worked out and carries with it a sum not exceeding $20,000 in an appropriation for its enforcement. It is foretold that this measure will draw one of the largest hearings before the Labor Committee at this session of the legislature.

THE PARLIAMENTARY ERROR CORRECTED

PASSAGE OF WEBB BILL UNDER NUMBERING OF SENATE BILL FOR TROUBLE.

IS QUICKLY RECTIFIED

Railroads Object to Present Physical Valuation Measure—Two Batches Agreed On.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—Supporters of the Webb bill to prevent shipments of intoxicating liquors into dry states elated by the passage of the bill in the senate yesterday in place of the Sheppard-Kenyon bill, found today that through a parliamentary error, their long fight had probably been a futile one so far as this session is concerned.

The bill as passed by the senate was identical in its provisions with the house measure, but when it was substituted for the Kenyon-Sheppard bill in the senate, the number of the senate bill was allowed to remain on the passed bill. This, according to House Parliamentary Counsel, makes the measure an entirely new one so far as the house is concerned and it will have to go to the judiciary committee and take its regular place on the calendar.

To obtain consideration for the senate bill on the floor of the house during the crowded last days of the session another special rule with accompanying parliamentary fight which the passed bill runs under which the bill originally was passed by the house will be necessary. Whether a rule can be reported and forced through in the press of appropriation bills is a grave question.

House Settles It.
The house late this afternoon passed the Webb bill designed to prohibit the shipment of intoxicating liquor into dry territory. The senate passed the bill yesterday. This action on the part of the house removes a parliamentary obstruction that threatened to delay the final passage of the bill until the next session of congress.

Railroad officials were heard before a senate committee today on the La Follette-Adamson bill to have the interstate commerce commission make a physical valuation of railroads to determine a basis for rate making. The committee had some experts on hand to hear their testimony. The railroad men declared they were not opposed to physical valuation, but wanted to see the bill improved.

Two battleships in this year's naval appropriation were determined upon today by the house naval affairs committee by a vote of 14 to 7. Six destroyers, four sub-marines, and an airplane and one transport will also be provided.

Attorney General Wickersham today declined to send to the house, in accordance with Representative Garner's resolution, his reasons for withholding bench warrants issued on Texas indictments against John D. Archbold and other Standard Oil officials charged with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The Clayton resolution for constitutional amendment for a six year single presidential term effective in 1921, to exempt Taft, Wilson or Roosevelt from its operation, was put over to the next congress today by the house judiciary committee.

The Hotel Sutherland, which is situated at the corner of Main street and Sutherland avenue, one block from the Canadian-Pacific depot, was a brick veneer structure and one of the oldest buildings in the city. The flames, of unknown origin, burned rapidly, and before the firemen arrived the building was a seething furnace. In the upper rooms cut off from communication to the floors below, by the flames, were guests and employees. Firemen carried these, partially clothed, down the ladders to safety. While a check has not been completed, it is not believed any lives were lost. The building is a total loss.

Early Buyers Get Best Choice.

"I couldn't find my size," explained a worried-looking woman to a friend one afternoon, as she came disconsolately from the waist counter.

"What," she answered, "you couldn't get anything to fit you in these lovely waists? Of course, you don't mean to say you were looking for one now."

"Yes, I was."

"Well, what could you expect at three o'clock in the afternoon, and you take a thirty-six. You know that size goes faster than anything else."

"I'll know better next time," sighed the disappointed one. The most reliable merchants in Janesville advertise their most important money-saving opportunities in THE GAZETTE and constantly every night, then you will always be posted and be able to shop early.

RUSH STATE TROOPS TO STRIKE DISTRICT OF WEST VIRGINIA

Five Companies Under Command of Adjutant General Elliott Ordered to Drive Out Armed Strikers.

Charlestown, W. Va., Feb. 11.—Adjutant General Elliott at daybreak took active command of the disturbed section of the Kanawha coal-field where almost a score of miners and guards were killed in yesterday's battle. With a provisional regiment of five companies he moved out from Point Creek Junction, two being sent to the Cabin Creek district, where trouble was expected today, and three under command of Major Thomas D. Davis, taking the road to Mucklow, where yesterday's fighting was fiercest. Orders were issued to drive armed men out of the district.

TURKISH ARMY LOST HEAVILY IN BATTLE AGAINST THE ALLIES

Six Thousand Soldiers and Fifty Officers Reported Killed and Wounded in Engagements at Bulair.

Sofia, Feb. 11.—The Turkish army in the peninsula of Gallipoli lost 6,000 and 50 officers during the fighting at Bulair according to an official report received here today. Several thousand Turkish soldiers are declared to have fallen in battle before the Tachatalia lines on February 9th, and thousands more at Charkeui today's report says.

Turks Are Repulsed.
"The Bulgarian army having repulsed several Turkish attacks along the Tachatalia lines except on the extreme right flank where it was exposed to any convergent fire from the Turkish war ships in the Sea of Marmora and the Gulf of Bujuk Chermekia retired to fresh position five and six miles to the rear. The losses of the Bulgarians were insignificant, while those of the Turks amounted to several thousand men mainly due to the excellently directed Bulgarian shell fire."

Heavy Turkish Losses.
"The Bulgarians are entrenching their positions in front of Bulair. Large bodies of men have been sent out to clear the field of battle of the dead bodies of Turkish soldiers which number from 5,000 to 6,000. It is believed that the number of wounded Turks must be more than 12,000."

Retreat to Transports.
"The troops which descended upon Charkeui near the port of Rodosto on Saturday and Sunday were almost surrounded by the Bulgarian army and were compelled to retire hastily to their transports under protection of the Turkish war ships. The Bulgarian infantry on shore kept up a deadly fire in the small boats loaded with Turkish troops inflicting losses amounting to several thousand men. The Bulgarian losses in the whole affair did not exceed 100 killed and wounded."

Case Appealed.

The government charged that their acts constituted restraint of trade. The defendants demurred and carried their case to the supreme court which recently ruled against them.

Patten in connection with the bull campaign in the 1910 to 1911 cotton crops will not plead guilty to the federal indictment in New York according to a statement given to the Associated Press today by William P. Brown.

FEDERAL OWNERSHIP URGED BY HITCHCOCK

Postmaster General Again Comes Out For Government Control of Telegraph Lines.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Government ownership or control of telegraph lines is again recommended by Postmaster General Hitchcock in his complete annual report submitted today to Congress. Mr. Hitchcock says: "In the last annual report the opinion was expressed that telegraph lines in the United States should be made a part of the postal system and operated in conjunction with the mail service. It is believed that under proper management such a consolidation would result in important economies and permit adoption of lower telegraph rates. Now that a postal savings system has been established and a parcel post provided for, there would seem to be no better opportunity for the profitable extension of our postal business than through the adoption of a government telegraph system."

Mr. Hitchcock also recommends that the use of the franking privilege be restricted to official correspondence not exceeding four ounces in weight and to the mailing of such speeches and documents as were printed by order of Congress.

RELIGIOUS BELIEFS VITALLY IMPORTANT

INDIFFERENCE RESPONSIBLE FOR LACK OF INTEREST IN CHURCH.

EACH MAN HAS CREED

The Rev. Father A. O. Welsh Gives Opening Lecture to Large Audience at Myers Theatre.

"Religious belief is of the most vital importance. Indifference as to what a man's faith is as long as his conduct passes muster is not only at the bottom of the lack of interest in the church and Christianity today, but it is an insult to Jesus Christ," said the Rev. Father A. O. Welsh of the Paulist Fathers, who opened a series of seven lectures on the fundamentals of the Roman Catholic religion at the Myers Theatre last evening.

The Rev. Father Welsh was introduced by the Rev. Dean E. E. Reilly of St. Patrick's church, who in a few brief remarks explained the purpose of the meetings. The purpose of them is not to make converts. Over one-half the people of the United States are not members of any church, and if they wished to make converts they would go to them. The object of the mission is to set forth the Roman Catholic church in its true colors, make a correct statement of its doctrines and practices, and promote a better feeling among the different Christian bodies. He hoped that many Protestants would attend the series of lectures.

Close attention was given throughout to the address of Father Welsh. The speaker has a pleasing personality, unquestioned sincerity, is charitable toward the beliefs and practices of churches not affiliated with his own, and manifests a willingness to treat all questions frankly that promises to command for him a tolerant and respectful hearing during his stay in this city.

Rev. O. A. Welsh said in part: "Disbelief and indifference to all religions are characteristic traits of the present age. The fierce battles of religious truth against error that preceded and followed the reformation have ceased. There was a time when men could arouse the religious zeal of people to such a state that they would leave their homes to fight for those places which were hallowed and sanctified by the footprints of Christ. Our universities and colleges teach all the sciences, but are silent on the science of sciences—religion. There must be a cause for this religious indifference."

Religion is absolutely necessary. Every man who ever lives must have some religion. Religion is to the soul what air and food is to the body. Faith is absolutely necessary and I lay down as a first principle that belief in God's word is necessary in order to be saved. Hence a man who says that I can believe what I like has no faith. A man who says it makes no difference what a man believes can never be saved. This faith must include all revealed doctrines. I say believes all that God says for there are some men, who think men can make a choice in believing.

Faith is not a blind act but an eminently reasonable one. A Catholic is not bound to believe without seeing. Faith must be founded on reason. By reason we must be sure that such a doctrine may be revealed by God. Faith does not set aside reason no more than the telescope sets aside the need of astronomer. Indifference is the most subtle enemy of the true faith, much harder to fight than bitter bigotry of the old-fashioned non-Catholic. The latter one disabused of his false ideas of the church and his inherited prejudices, is open to conviction. But the indifferentist who declares God is indifferent to truth simply because he himself is so and who boasts of a religion free from obligations and restraints, is hardly apt to consider the claims of a definite dogmatic religion which requires absolute faith and forces its laws under the penalty of damnation.

The assertion that one religion is just as good as another is evidently self-contradictory. It is the first principle of reason that two contradictory statements cannot both be true. If one is true the other is undoubtedly false, either there are many Gods or one God, either Jesus Christ is the Son of God or he is not. Divine revelation is either lawful or unlawful. To declare therefore that Protestantism, Polytheism, Catholicism are equally true is therefore to deny object of truth altogether. On this theory a man ought to change his religion as he changes his clothes, according to his environment. The God of indifference is moreover not a God to be adored by rational men. God is the essential, absolute and eternal truth. Of necessity, he must hate error and wickedness. To assert therefore that God does not care what a man believes that he is indifferent whether a man believes truth or falsehood accept his revelation or reject it, is nothing short of blasphemy. Indifference is unbelief in disguise.

Tonight the Rev. O. A. Welsh will speak on "The Divinity of Jesus Christ."

HAS RESIGNED HER POSITION WITH LANE MEDICAL LIBRARY

Word has been received in this city that Miss Lydia Kingsley, former librarian at the Janesville public library, has resigned her position as librarian of the Lane Medical Library in San Francisco, because of a serious eye trouble. Miss Kingsley accepted the position about six months ago. She is now resting and receiving treatment at Los Angeles.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MAKES SUBSTANTIAL CONTRIBUTION

Baptist Women Raise $100 at Annual Business Meeting Held Last Friday Afternoon.

At the annual business meeting of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society held at the home of Mrs. Leavitt, North Jackson street, last Friday afternoon, $100 were raised to apply to the additional offer made by John D. Rockefeller to the National Baptist Society. Mrs. Stewart, field secretary of the women's home and foreign missionary society in the west, was present at the meeting and gave an address.

RECORD CIRCULATION AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Five Hundred Books Loaned Last Saturday and Over Fourteen Hundred Throughout the Week.

Five hundred books were loaned by the public library last Saturday, perhaps the largest circulation in any one day in the history of the institution. The circulation for the entire week was 1459 volumes, also an unusual figure. Of this total, 1056 volumes were fiction and 393 were non-fiction—books on travel, histories, biographies, classics, standard literature, etc. A steady increase has been noted in the circulation of non-fiction books. The circulation figures for the period from July 1, 1912 to January 1, 1913 show that there was a total increase over the circulation for the same months in the previous year of 1700 volumes, and of this increase over 700 were books classified as non-fiction. The increase in non-fiction last month over January, 1912, was nearly three hundred volumes. These statistics show that the public library is serving an ever-widening circle of readers, that the readers appreciate not only the ability of the library to furnish them diversion, but facilities for culture, self-improvement, and valuable knowledge.

FORUM SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING LAST NIGHT

The Forum Literary Society held their regular meeting last night and it was enjoyed by the entire membership. The order was better than ever, despite the absence of a faculty critic. This society has been without the services of a faculty critic all this school year. The program was interesting. The first number was given by Walter Greene, on "Automobiles and Their Various Uses." "Across the Ocean in a Cockle Shell," a scientific subject, was given by John Ferguson. "The New Siege of Adrianople," describing the conditions now prevailing in the Orient under the present war times, was given by Roy Cannon. Fred Cummings pleased the members with a humorous sketch. But there was nothing to listen to, as his topic was "A Silent Selected Oration." The last topic was given by James Stewart on "Frank Chance in the Baseball World, and His New Position with the Yankees." The meeting was adjourned at 8:30. Next week election of officers will be held.

Rusk Lyceum.

The Rusk Lyceum held their meeting last night without the services of a faculty critic. Prof. Guy W. Curtis is still ill with an attack of tonsillitis, and may be in for some time. The meeting was a good one, and many topics were given. Soule and McVicar on the affirmative won the decision in the debate over Allen Dearborn and Kretz of the negative by a 2 to 1 decision. The meeting was a brief one.

CLINTON

Clinton, Feb. 11.—George Reeder of Wautoma was here yesterday calling on friends.

W. P. Woolston and wife have decided to again spend a year at America, Texas, near the place at which their son, Milton, and wife, reside. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Tiltonson will occupy the Woolston residence on Durand street.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Peiz is very ill with a complication of diseases.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Fetter of Janesville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Snyder.

Andrew Holman had a narrow escape from losing his left eye while at Racine last Saturday. He was walking near a big foundry where, breaking up an old casting, he was struck by a piece of metal flew off the corner of his left spectacle lens, shattering it. Very luckily neither the piece of metal or the broken glass entered the eye, but it was a close call.

T. Dodge has purchased Mrs. W. W. Smith's home on West Cross street and will take possession April 15th. Miss Ruth Christman of Evansville came down Saturday to spend Sunday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Christman.

Miss Marsha Wood was in town yesterday, coming by from Sharon, where she spent Sunday. Miss Wood has resigned her important position with the Bradley Knitting company at Delavan. She has not decided yet what she will do after she takes a much needed rest.

Mrs. D. R. Williams of Chicago is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Snyder, corner Cross and Pleasant streets.

W. J. Ward, formerly residing near Fort Atkinson, has rented and moved onto the old McNeen farm of 350 acres near Avalon.

George Cantwell the electric plant man, Delavan, was here yesterday between trains and called on his old friend, A. J. Boden.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Conry left town about 7 o'clock Saturday evening for home, southeast of town, when their horse became frightened at the C. & N. W. train and ran away, the buggy finally struck the railing at the side of the first small bridge and threw Mr. and Mrs. Conry out. Mrs. Conry struck on her head cutting it very badly, then as soon as possible returned to town and received medical attention. The buggy and harness were badly broken.

LINK AND PIN

EASTERN RAILROAD FIREMEN VOTE FOR THE BIG STRIKE

The committee representing the 30,000 eastern railroad firemen, who have voted to strike if called on, have offered to arbitrate the questions at issue under the Erdman act. The committee make it clear that the real purpose of the strike vote and threat is to force the railroads, if possible, to agree to arbitration in such form.

The railway managers hereby announce their inability—with due regard to all interests involved—to submit to arbitration practically by one man, as the Erdman act stipulates.

The plea of the firemen that they desire only that form of arbitration arranged by federal law, is specious. The Erdman act was never devised to settle such a vast problem as that presented in settling the relations of 52 railroads with their employees. That is a problem, the railways maintain, which must be settled by a commission of sufficient size and character to represent the public interest and be free from POLITICAL INFLUENCE OF EVERY KIND. In the recent controversy with the engineers it became clear that, if, in the evolution of these arrangements or collective bargaining between the railroads and their employees, it is going to be impossible or impracticable for the interested parties to agree on their joint arbitrators and, therefore, necessary to bring in a third party for this purpose, it becomes extremely important that this third party, that having practically the sole appointing power, should be as nearly neutral as it is possible to make it so far as the interests of the contestants are concerned.

The railroads contended in the engineers' case, and they contend now, that the appointing power, if it is to meet these qualifications, and if this power is to be taken over by the federal government, should be in the hands of officials holding a "life tenure," and it was for this reason that the chief justice of the United States was added to the appointing board.

The defects of the Erdman act noted by the arbitrators themselves in the engineers' case and are commented on at length in their report. There have been a number of unsatisfactory and unjust awards, and the law has been severely criticised, not only by the railroads, but by the employees and their representatives.

The government officials who administer the law have not only criticised it, but have suggested its modification, and the railroads, therefore, feel that they are justified in urging upon the firemen and the public that the arbitration of this case should follow the same line as that of the engineers.

EXPECT TO FINISH BRIDGE ABOUT THE FIRST OF MAY

The construction gang who are rebuilding the upper bridge, have finished the cement making machine and a special track is being built on the south side of the bridge to run the cement to the respective piers. The three old piers have been boarded up and raised. Work is being done in constructing the moulds for the two other piers and when the weather permits the forms will be filled with cement, making a solid foundation for the tracks. With favorable weather the engineers expect to finish about the first of May when an additional force of forty men will be employed. At present there are about thirty men working on the structure. When finished there will be a total of seven piers, five in the river and two on the bank.

Chicago & Northwestern MAY BUILD DOUBLE TRACK FRIENDSHIP TO WYVILLE

Rumor Persistent in Railroad Circles in Regard to Further Work on New Line.

While nothing official has been given out, yet it has been reported around the railroad circles that the Northwestern will double track its line between Friendship and Wyville during the coming season. The increasing traffic over the new line makes the double track necessary to relieve the congested condition of trains especially on the western end of the line. Wyville is the junction of the main line of the Northwestern going to St. Paul and the new line crossing over to Clyman Junction and Milwaukee.

There was a train of ten cars passed through this city Sunday, containing automobiles from the Chicago show, and were being rushed to Minneapolis for exhibit. The ten cars were pulled by a big passenger engine and quick time was made in reaching their destination. The crew changed at the local yards and the train lost no time in leaving over the Madison division.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. Train 21 going from Chicago to Madison and arriving in Janesville at 12:35, and train number 146 from Madison to Chicago which leaves Janesville at 5:20 have lately been equipped with a dining car.

T. Moore and Green took train 162 to Chicago at 11:15 this morning.

Wright and Siebert took engine 513 or 21, the train going out double-headed.

President Poincaré (official photograph).

Raymond Poincaré, the new president of France, has been called "a Parisian paradox." Perhaps the reason for this is that he is rigidly honest, and honesty is unusual among French politicians. Poincaré is a hard-working man and ranks first among French statesmen. Before taking up politics he practiced law.

General Daniel B. Sickles.

Veterans from the ranks of the northern and southern armies during the Civil war, their widows and children, and rich men throughout the country are expected to cancel the debt between the state of New York and General Daniel B. Sickles which resulted in the aged veteran's arrest charged with having devoted $23,476 of a monument fund to his own use. Mrs. Helen D. District Judge George W. H. Clark of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Governor Lee Cruce of the same state are almost ready to fight over the question of fighting. After the judge issued an order restraining officials of Oklahoma City from interfering with a boxing match scheduled to take place at Oklahoma City the other night between Tommy Dixon of Kansas City and Lee Morrissey of Oklahoma City, the adjutant general of the state appeared at the ringside with a detachment of militia and enforced an order issued by the governor forbidding the fight.

Ty Cobb says the story that has been published broadcast to the effect that he has signed a $15,000 contract with the Detroit Tigers is not so. Ty also declares that the report to the effect that he wants $15,000 a year is without foundation. He wants a raise, all right, but he declares nobody knows just the figure that he asks.

Pitcher Jeff Overall of the Chicago Cubs is really earnest about returning to baseball. He has asked the national commission to reinstate him. It is not believed that he will have any trouble in getting reinstated. Overall quit in the winter of 1910-11 and gave his attention to a mining venture in California.

An immense amount of printer's ink has been used up by sporting editors of late in discussing the problem of whether Jim Thorpe will make good as a ball player. The experts can't agree. Some predict a brilliant baseball future for him; others see in the big brave only a fit candidate for oblivion if he directs his future efforts to the diamond. The only thing the ordinary fan can do is to sit down and wait until Thorpe himself demonstrates what's in him.

ALBANY AND MONROE HAVE STRONG TEAMS

Albany Defeats Madison in Game Saturday, But Lose to Monroe Earlier in Week.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Albany, Feb. 11.—In a fast, clean game, Albany defeated Madison high school (Coach Staley's team) by a score of 34 to 23. Saturday night, Krause of Monticello refereed. The game was played before a large crowd which packed the hall, and the receipts were more than sufficient to clear the team of all debts. As a preliminary, Monticello defeated the Albany second team. For Albany, Atkinson and Smiley starred, while Bondi and Ferguson of Madison played a great game. Last Thursday night Albany met its first defeat, at Monroe. The score was 20 to 15. The teams had met before and Albany beat Monroe at that time 23 to 11. Monroe claims the better of the argument, but the scores speak for themselves.

February 11, 1913.—The area of low pressure that was on the northern plains yesterday has moved rapidly eastward and is now passing over the lower Lake region. It is attended by rains throughout the East and South, with clear weather on its front, and a sharp fall along its axis to low temperatures on its rear, which is now over Wisconsin and the upper Lake region. The barometer is high throughout the Northwest, with clear skies and low temperatures. There is a barometric depression in the Gulf of Mexico and another in Arizona, both of which are attended by cloudiness and rainfall.

JOY IN NEW YORK; ED SWEENEY SIGNS

Ed Sweeney.

There is joy among New York Highland fans. Ed Sweeney, star catcher of the team, has signed for 1913 and thinks he'll be in the best condition. His lack of condition early last season handicapped the Highlanders.

Sweeney caught 110 games in 1912 and threw out more base runners than any other catcher in the American league. He has written Manager Chance that he is anxious to catch in every game and expects to hit over .300, as last year he boosted his average over 40 points above what it had been in 1911.

PLATTEVILLE NORMAL SEEKS A GAME HERE

Would Meet High School Team on March 12—Janesville has a Heavy Schedule.

It is evident that the Janesville high school team will have enough to do before they can fight it out for entrance to the tournament. The Platteville Normal School sent a letter in yesterday to the high school asking for a game to be played on March 12. This date is open for the locals, but it is not thought that the game will be accepted. The date will be left open, in case an elimination game is necessary. With a game with Jefferson at the latter place on Friday, and then the successive contests with Port Atkinson, Lake Mills and Beloit, the locals have a difficult task before the Beloit tournament is taken on. The locals are planning entering this tournament, and to carry off honors if possible.

At the Y. M. C. A. last night, the high school team had a battle royal with the seniors. The game was not very close as far as the score was concerned, but the high boys were given a severe test at floor work, and were forced to their best advantage to make the game a good one. The game Friday night with Jefferson will be a good one, even though Stoughton administered a defeat to them by a score of 27 to 16. The locals defeated Stoughton 40 to 6, and it looks as if the game with Jefferson would be a walkaway, but the locals are guarding against any surprise, and are only expecting to win by a narrow margin.

RACINE POLO TEAM IS NOW LEADING THE LEAGUE

Racine stepped into first place in the Wisconsin Polo league, Saturday night, by defeating the Kenosha team by the score of three to one. Janesville defeated the leaders two weeks ago and their average is .666 and Racine is above the local team because of having played more games. Both teams have only one defeat to their record. Janesville in her opening game being defeated by the Kenosha players, while Racine was humbled by the Janesville team in their second game.

THORPE NEEDS NO TEARS; IF DIAMOND PALES HE CAN TAKE TO STAGE OR RING.

Jim Thorpe.

Ladies and gentlemen, don't cry over Jim Thorpe. True, the mighty Indian has been hurled headlong from his throne. He is no longer the champion amateur athlete of the world. The laurels have been torn from his classic brow. But Jim Thorpe isn't down and out yet.

In the first place, the big brave's popularity with the fans has not waned appreciably. The most of them have been heard to say: "Oh, well, when Thorpe played professional ball he was a simple Indian child, fresh from the mountain fastnesses of Oklahoma, unacquainted with the ways of the white man, and, he supposed he was doing all right."

In the second place, a very delightful future seems just ahead of Jim in the world of professional sport. It is said his contract with the New York Giants for the 1913 season is a very handsome affair—that the salary provided for is very much greater than is generally given to a green man like Thorpe. There was a regular scramble for the big brave's services on the part of a half dozen big league clubs before McGraw finally cornered him.

If Thorpe gets weary of baseball, or if baseball tires of him, he can take to the stage or the ring. He (pompously)—"I tell my wife all I know." She—"How delightfully quiet you must be at home."—Brooklyn Life.

AN ANTARCTIC TRAGEDY.

News of the death of Captain Robert F. Scott of the English navy, and his brave companions, in the Antarctic, after having planted the flag of England, beside that of Captain Amundsen of Norway, at the South Pole, comes as a shock to the world, who have waited long and patiently for definite news of his journey. That success crowned his efforts before overcome by the cold and snow of the far South, is but small satisfaction to his bereaved wife and children, but it adds to his glory as an explorer.

"Captain Roald Amundsen, Scott's friendly rival in the race, reached the South Pole December 16, 1911. Captain Scott reached the pole January 18, 1912, losing the race by almost exactly a month," says the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"Captain Scott lost his life from exposure in attempting to retrace his steps and reach a supply depot. His body and those of his companions were recovered and the records of the dash to the pole were found intact.

"A pathetic figure in this tragedy of the Antarctic is Mrs. Scott, who is on the Pacific bound for New Zealand, where she had planned to meet her husband.

"Captain Scott's expedition proves at least one thing: That Captain Amundsen reached the pole, just as he reported. Scott's records show that he found complete proof of Amundsen's presence there on Dec. 16, 1911. Incidentally, it is to be presumed that no such proof of Admiral Peary's presence at the north pole is possible. The south pole is solid land; the north pole shifting ice or open sea.

"Presumably there will be many results of scientific value from Captain Scott's long stay in the Antarctic.

"Robert F. Scott and his companions died the death of heroes and as such will be remembered by the world. To his family and those of his companions goes out the sincere sympathy of everyone.

THE INAUGURAL BALL.

An inauguration without an inaugural ball to Washington society is so appalling a condition of affairs that it can not be understood. Already the society people of the nation's capital predict dire disasters for the incoming democratic administration and await with anxiety the fourth of March and President-elect Wilson's arrival for his four years' residence. An exchange, however, in commenting upon Mr. Wilson's determination to follow out the lines of Jeffersonian simplicity, says:

"President-elect Wilson may have won some permanent critics and enemies among Washington traders by his defeat of the plan to celebrate his inauguration with a ball, but by challenging the tradition and setting it aside he has won the approval of the country. The tenor of the comments of the press and of the letters he has received show this. The rank and file of the American people, we think, want simplicity, dignity and sobriety in connection with the transfer of control of so great an office. They do not care to have any features of the occasion made sordid or vulgar. They would prefer to have any expense involved in the ceremony fall upon the public treasury rather than upon local tradesmen, who in turn must recoup themselves by charging the public. Nor are most Americans eager to have militarism too prominent in the spectacle. The simple ceremony of taking the oath, whether administered in the open air on the capitol steps or indoors, is the great incident of the occasion, especially if the first inaugural, as in Lincoln's case, be a classic. It is to see this formal surrender of power greater than that of most kings and emperors and to watch its serious acceptance by the people's latest choice—a man from the ranks as it were—that shrewdest onlookers go to the capital city. Dancing and feasting can be indulged in at almost any inn in any city, any evening; but not every day can democracy at its highest be seen working as dramatically as when Mr. Wilson follows Mr. Taft."

Everyone is waiting for the Home Coming next July. An early start in the way of a celebration means success although there is a lot of hard work to be accomplished by the committee's having charge of the affair.

Germany is trying to reform its picture shows. It is a good move in the right direction and one which every nation should follow.

The question is whether Bryan is to be the whole cabinet, one member of the cabinet, or not in the cabinet at all. Governor Wilson refuses to make any statements public and consequently there is much speculation as to just what is going to happen when he does assume control of the government next month.

Congress still manifests a desire to permit the tariff to remain in the outer chamber and cool its heels for some time to come. It is all right to talk of revising the tariff, but when it comes to tinkering with the old band-wagon it is hard to fit all the parts together so it will run properly.

If you have any important business to transact with John Bull just at present, it would be best to also include Mrs. John Bull in your calculations, because she will not permit John one minute of peace and comfort these days.

The Turks insist that they have just awakened, but there is still time for them to climb out of the burning

New York policemen deserve commendation for their efforts to suppress crime by enriching themselves and the men higher up by demanding protection for permitting the gamblers to fleece the public.

The dove of peace appears to be hovering about the capital at Madison in a vain attempt to find some place to alight with the olive branch he is bearing to the McGovern-Ekern forces.

Sugar is cheaper now than it has been in the past ten years. Why is this? Is it possible that the law of supply and demand is operating in sugar as in other commodities?

Perhaps if Bryan does accept a cabinet position in Washington, Colonel Roosevelt might be induced to become editor of the Commoner in his place—at least for four years.

Now that Mexico has stirred up a new revolution close at home perhaps the battles of the Servians, Bulgarians and Turks will not be so important as they were.

It is a certainty that before accepting the job at Yale, President Taft took a good view of the golf links to see if they were in good shape.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

A PURE CREAM OF TARTAR POWDER

Approved by physicians and by food officials, both State and National. Awarded highest honors by the great World's Expositions, and proved of superior strength and purity by the official tests.

No Alum—No Lime Phosphate

As every effort is made in the advertisements of the cheap baking powders to conceal the fact that they are made from alum, consumers must READ THE INGREDIENT CLAUSE UPON THE LABEL on the can and never buy unless it shows cream of tartar.

(OFFICIAL)

"In view of the overwhelming mass of evidence antagonistic to alum, it is recommended that its use in baking powders be prohibited by law."

REAL ESTATE DEALERS WANT REGISTRATION LAW

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
 Madison, Wis., Feb. 11.—Registration of real estate dealers is the effect of a law asked of this legislature by the Wisconsin Real Estate Dealers' Association. At a recent meeting held at Green Bay this form of legislation was endorsed. The plan is to charge a registration fee of $5. Some of the assemblymen from Northern Wisconsin claim that such a plan will drive from under cover a gang of dealers who live by a mild system of blackmailing their more prosperous brethren. There is some disposition to demand a bond of $1,000 for the faithful representations of the claims made by a real estate dealer, but this feature is meeting with objection.

ALL MUST REGISTER OR SWEAR IN VOTE

State Law Places New Burden on Voter—Officers to be Elected On Tuesday, April 1.

Every voter in Janesville will be compelled to register in person this year according to a statute passed by the last state legislature. This statute provides for four registration days, March 10, 11, 12, and 13. March 13 is also primary election day, and the general election will be held on Tuesday, April 1. All who do not register, even if their names have been carried on the poll lists for many years, will have to swear in their votes at election time. A resolution passed by the Common Council some time ago provided that registrations were to be held in the fall only, and in alternate years, but as the coming election is a general one the resolution cannot govern. All municipal elections in Wisconsin this year will see candidates running on non-partisan tickets. This too is in conformity with a recent legislative act.

There will be chosen at the coming election a School Commissioner at Large to succeed Dr. S. B. Buckmaster, a Justice of the Peace to succeed Charles H. Lange; a School Commissioner in the first ward to succeed James Shearer, in the third ward to succeed Samuel M. Smith, and in the fifth ward to succeed James M. Thayer. Supervisors will be elected in the first, M. P. Richardson in the second, Joseph L. Bear in the third, Joseph A. Denning in the fourth, and Edward Rotherham in the fifth. Constables will also be chosen in every ward, succeeding George H. Palmer, J. J. Constock and John Baker in the first, second, and third wards, and William E. Dulin in the fifth. There is at present no constable in the fourth ward.

State and county officers to be elected are a Judge of the Probate Court in place of J. W. Sala, a County Superintendent in place of O. D. Antisdel and a State Superintendent of Schools in place of C. P. Cary.

Nomination papers must be filed with the city clerk not later than five days prior to the date of the primary election, which means that all will have to obtain the required number of signatures of voters and have the papers in the hands of the clerk not later than March 3.

UNWARRANTED ALARM BRINGS FIREMEN TO APOLLO THEATRE

Flames Issuing From Chimney From Burning Paper Frightened Observer—No Work for Department.

Flames issuing from the chimney of the Apollo theatre about 6:30 o'clock last night frightened someone who observed it and led to the calling out of the fire department. On arriving upon the scene the firemen were greeted with surprised looks by the theatre management who know nothing amiss, took a look at the facade of the building and returned to their stations. The flames issued from the burning of old programs in the furnace and the draft was so strong in the tall chimney that burning paper was drawn clear to the top. As the chimney is built of fire-brick and lined with tile an inch thick, there was absolutely no danger to the building. A number of Babcock extinguishers are distributed throughout the auditorium, balcony and other parts of the theatre so that any blaze, wherever it may originate, may be quickly put out.

TO TRY LIBEL SUIT AT FEBRUARY TERM

Case of Wallace Ingalls of Racine Against Beloit Daily News Will Be Scheduled.

One of the important cases which will doubtless be scheduled on the February calendar of the circuit court for Rock county, is the $50,000 libel suit brought by Wallace Ingalls of Racine against the Daily News Publishing company of Beloit. The complaint alleges that he suffered serious damage to his character as the result of an article which appeared in the News during the congressional campaign several years ago. Mr. Ingalls has made inquiry as to the February court term here and has received copies of the jury list. It is understood that he has retained Attorney Mort Walker of Racine as his counsel.

GO TO EVANSVILLE TO ORGANIZE CLUB

Officers of Local Baptist Men's Club Will Speak at Meeting on Friday Night.

E. C. Bailey, John Jones, J. B. Humphrey and Rev. J. C. Hazen, officers of the Baptist men's club of this city, will go to Evansville on Friday evening of this week to assist in the organization of a similar club in the Baptist church of that city. All of the Janesville men will give addresses following the banquet. Their topic will relate to church and club matters. It is announced that about seventy men will be present at the meeting.

Good Coffee and Its Relation To Health.

Good coffee possesses a direct beneficial action on the system. Just as well, grown nutritious celery is said to supply the brain with phosphates—food for the brain cells—while poorly grown celery has no such effect. So it is with good, well cultivated, well roasted coffee. Such coffee supplies the nerve centers with an element that feeds the nerves—tones them up—makes them strong. Since the nerves control every function of the body, good coffee benefits all the organs of the body, gives you a strong mental grip and helps make you a success. But poorly grown—badly roasted coffee does not possess this beneficial effect and has absolutely no beneficial action on the nervous system. Golden Blend coffee is good coffee. It is rich in the nerve feeding element. A cup of Golden Blend coffee is beneficial to health—it feeds the central nervous system—its rich, delicious, creamy taste and fragrant aroma make it a most delightful beverage.

DINNER STORIES

There is a young man in this town who likes the ladies, but who doesn't wish to be captured. Consequently his attentions are rather timorous. He went to a poetical friend recently, and spoke thusly:

"Say, old man, you are something of a poet."

"What of it?"

"I want you to help me get up a valentine for a young lady."

"What do you want to say?"

"I want you to say something sort of tender, don't you know, but at the same time I don't want to commit myself, understand?"

"But you don't want a poet to draw up your valentine. What you want is a lawyer."

Fads and Fashion

New York, Feb. 10.—At the beginning of the Fall season of last year some of the writers on fashion made the somewhat rash statement that the days of the narrow skirt and of the slim silhouette were counted and that an era of fullness, if not of buffancy was rapidly approaching in the wake of the tentative blouse models shown by some of the famous designers of fashion in Paris and elsewhere. Perhaps the wish was the father of this prediction which, like many other such predictions, was not fulfilled.

Fashionable women simply refuse to wear anything that would reduce the length and increase the width of their silhouette. They carry this aversion to anything suggesting fullness or bulk so far that even skirt lining is tabooed. For the street, therefore, women who have some regard for their health and wish to keep warm have recourse to mailots or equestriennes of jersey. In cold weather this is a necessity, at least for women who do not own an automobile or even a carriage.

Owing to this tendency for avoiding anything conducive to bulkiness thin and sheer materials of every description are extremely popular. Laces play an important role in the present day fashion. Many costumes show it as skirt foundation, as the whole corsage, as sleeves or in the form of a little jacket. The last is one of the most successful features of the season. Sometimes these jackets are sleeveless sometimes not. Occasionally the entire upper part is a kind of fichu, both back and front.

These little jackets of lace, being shortwaisted, do not take much goods, and if one happens to possess several pieces of lace, no matter whether coarse or fine, for all kinds are more or less modish, one has only to have it cleaned or pressed and made into a charming little jacket. These in black Chantilly are exquisite, also those in Point de Venise. These black lace jackets for a change are worn over an evening dress of any color. They are cut with or without revers, decolleté or high necked, but all are dainty and distinguished. Imitation lace, which is now quite fashionable, is generally dyed the color of the robe it trims.

At one of the shops a very handsome dress was shown the other day. It was made in one piece and had a row of tiny pink roses of silk above the center. The effect is, of course, charming, yet it is sure to make the waist big and thick. That, however, is just what the couturiers wish. It is an absurd idea this, of rendering the waist large and heavy, and of slicing off the hips and circumference, yet nothing appears to delight the designers quite so much. The more they can suppress curves, the happier they are. In some cases this tendency is carried to extremes.

It is predicted that furred silks and satins will be worn a great deal during the coming season and that plain satin will have a rest, at least to a great extent. This may be so with some afternoon frocks, but for evening and handsome day gown nothing can excel the plain-faced rich satin. Brocades have only recently enjoyed popularity, and it is a question whether or not as a whole they have been a real success.

A color which is extremely popular just now is rose leaf, a delicious, soft, transparent tone of pink. In the evening stunning effects are caught, and the social functions since Christmas the rose leaf for young women has had first choice. Another dye that is pretty but more delicate is ashes of roses. This was worn in America years ago, and is more gray than pink, yet in certain lights it is wonderfully soft. Trimmings in black blond lace, or in fact, any kind of light, fluffy lace in black, the material extremely beautiful.

The beguin or evening bonnet is now having a tremendous vogue. It is a great idea, this little headgear for if one is going calling in the evening or to some function that does not require the head bare, the beguin can be put on to cover tossed hair, or hair that has been mussed under a hat. The fashionable beguin covers the entire head like all the hats, and some women who do not care to recur their front hair fasten in the little fringe of hair or put in pieces of hair to go over the ears.

Beguns may be made of almost any material, net or mousseline, or lace, sewn on a light foundation. The effect will be good provided one does not overdo the thing. A white or black aigrette or a paradise feather at the side drooping over one ear, is the Christmas morning in clear some snow from a garden path, and some time later the owner found Pat smoking, while another man was doing the work.

"Why, Pat," said the owner, "I thought I engaged you for this work?"

"Sure, sorr, I sub-contracted the job," replied Pat.

"Oh, and how much are you paying your man?"

"Half a crown, sorr."

"But I'm only giving you two shillings."

"Yes, and isn't it worth sixpence to be a boss for one day?"

Tommy was for the time being lost. For an hour his mother had seen nothing of him—had heard nothing of him, and this was unusual, so unusual that Tommy's mamma became anxious.

She questioned Tommy's sister Elsie. But Elsie shook her curls. She knew nothing; she hadn't seen Tommy for an hour quite.

Then Tommy's mamma rang for the cook, and cook came down looking her and comfortable. "Oh, mum—mum!" she began, wildly.

"Gracious, cook! What has happened?" shrieked Tommy's mamma, as she flopped into a chair. "My boy! My sweet cherub! Tell me the worst."

And the cook told her. "Please, mum, Tommy's locked himself in the cupboard with the mince-pies, and—"

and he says he's going on eating till he's too ill to be whipped!"

best, and almost the only garnish called for. Too much trimming simply destroys the beauty of the whole arrangement.

Rich brocades with large patterns in gold or silver, copper or gun metal thread continue to enjoy a certain vogue. They appear in rich satins, velvets and crepes. Their cost prevents them from becoming common and only an artist can make them up satisfactorily.

The wearing of scarfs with decolleté gowns has become so general that it is no wonder the woman who has a desire to be original has found a device that is rather novel to replace it. Long or short lengths of tulle knotted at the ends or ornamented with tassels are found to be a satisfactory substitute, for even a thickness or two of tulle supplies a little warmth. These strips of tulle are becoming and a touch of color can be given to a white or black costume by means of them. For instance, two lengths of tulle tied together may combine turquoise blue and white, or black and green.

The narrow sashes of the '60's have been revived. They are offered in many styles, those of bright colors and odd designs being especially popular. The plain ones have embroidered ends and most of them are finished with fringe. The sashes are knotted at the side or looped at the back. They are worn with all sorts of costumes and give an effective touch of color to a sombre gown.

Among the new flannel bathrobes appear many designs borrowed from the Navajo Indians. The combinations of reds, greens and yellows are cheerful, to say the least.

The passion for having everything match in color has extended to umbrellas, which correspond in color with the raincoat or the rainy day suit. The girl who wears tan shoes, tan rubbers, tan raincoat and tan hat, now has a tan colored umbrella. Gray umbrellas will be one of the novelties to be seen in the spring when the April showers begin.

Sunshades for use while motoring appear in many colors. Those that screw onto a sole leather case, which serves also as a handle, are in demand. Green, blue, purple and brown are chosen to match veils and dust coats. Taffeta is so soft and supple material nowadays it makes an altogether charming costume and is at the same time inexpensive, requiring little trimming and being particularly good when made up in a combination of the flowered and the plain. It is a material which may be found in the shops in practically every desirable color or shade.

THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

According to Uncle Abner.

A lot of fellers who have failed in everything else think they could run the village newspaper a darn sight better than the editor does.

There are plenty of ways to be on happy without tryin' to settle a quarrel between a man and wife.

A mail carrier is a lucky feller. When he gets all through with his day's work he don't have nothing to do until tomorrow.

Any feller who puts up a holler agin' the tight skirts is either a hypocrite or a common ordinary four-flusher. Any feller who doesn't look at 'em won't notice nothing objectionable.

One of the best ways to make a hit with your wife is to write a letter to the newspaper advocating votes for widemen.

Hank Tummas fell off'n the top of the postoffice and landed on the cement sidewalk, but escaped uninjured as he didn't strike on a vital spot. He landed on his head.

Elmer Jones is certainly a glutton for hard luck. Quite recently he took the canvassing rights for a patent corkscrew. After he had paid for the rights he found that his territory embraced nineteen dry counties.

A feller who is easy to get along with never becomes a great captain of finance.

There are a lot of grocery men and butchers who look upon the growing popularity of the automobile with considerable consternation.

There ain't nothing that makes a feller feel smaller than to read the census statistics of this world.

Anse Fishby's wife, who has been down to New York, says while there she ate some swell French dishes and Hank Tummas says he would have to be pretty hungry if he ate a dish, whether it was a swell French one or a common Chiny one.

About the most inconsiderate kind of senility to be an ex-senator.

The Red Nose.

My love has got a red, red nose, I see him purple soon.

It looks much like the red, red nose That's newly sprung in June.

My love's nose it resembles now The tall light on a car.

I see him coming down the road, It matters not how far.

To see it burst in flames sometimes Would not surprise me much.

Among the noses in our town There is not another such.

My love has got a red, red nose, It blisters every miss.

Upon her cheek whenever my love Doth try to steal a kiss.

He needs no lantern, does my love, To light the darkness way.

You see, my lover, he did not Swear off on New Year's day.

At The Theatre

"THE GIRL AT THE GATE."

There is at least one comedian of distinctly American method and manner who is not of the belief that the so-called "speed" of American fun in the theater is baffling to English audiences. He is Will Phillips, whose brisk comedy in "The Girl at the Gate" implies mental alertness on the part of the audiences. "I followed the line of least resistance when about fifteen years ago, I realized that the cultivation of an individual style was the one sure commercial bet in the theater," says Phillips. "I am not yet quite certain that managers and authors classify 'Will Phillips parts'; but I have a comforting sense of knowing that, when I'm sent for by a manager, it is because he knows precisely what I can do. Henry D. Dixey and I, about twelve years ago, acted together in London, I being engaged because Dixey wanted a foil to his manner of acting, a slow, plodding old chap in a sketch. It happened that I had the better part, although Dixey and I were unaware of the fact until told by the public. The sketch was called 'Dick's Boy'; and the text given to me to speak suggested nothing so much as Harry Bulger rattling through a patter-song. I do not recall that a single point was ever missed by an audience in the six weeks in which Dixey and I played the sketch in the music halls. That I mean this as a tribute to the sketch and to the audience, and not to myself, may be indicated when I tell you that the sketch 'died' when, coming home, Dixey and I tried it in New York, the home of so-called 'Broadway stuff.'

Home Remedy for Eczema

From our experience as druggists in this community, we can recommend, as an absolutely reliable remedy for skin diseases, the D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema, made in the D.D.D. laboratories in Chicago. This is an ideal home remedy for it has the advantages of being a convenient wash, easy to apply and positively harmless to the most tender skin.

D.D.D. gives instant relief from the irritating itch, it penetrates the pores and reaches the root of the disease immediately. Just a 50c bottle will convince you of this.

We advise every skin sufferer to have D.D.D. Prescription always on hand. Of course all druggists sell it—go to them if you can't see to use—but don't accept a big profit substitute.

However, if you come to our store, we have so much confidence in this mild, antiseptic wash that we will guarantee the first full-size bottle to do as we say. If not, pay nothing. Let us also tell you about D.D.D. soap.

WOULD WIDEN SCOPE OF WORKMEN'S ACT TO ALL INDUSTRIES

Amendment to Compensation Law
Would Include Every Employer of Labor in State Unless He Elects Otherwise.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 11.—Several amendments which will make the principle of compensation for industrial accidents an established fact in all Wisconsin industries, will have the attention of the legislature in a few days. George W. Bingham, chairman of the Assembly Committee on Manufacturers and Commerce, today gave out a statement regarding amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act as proposed by the industrial commission. Nearly every section of the act is amended in some manner, but the amendments of vital importance are few.

"The amendment of most far-reaching importance," said Mr. Bingham, "is that which brings all employers of labor under the workmen's compensation act unless they file formal notice to the effect that they desire to remain outside its provisions. This is the idea carried out at present in the acts now operative in New Jersey, Michigan, Illinois and other states.

Contributory Negligence. Another exceedingly important amendment is that which abrogates the defense of contributory negligence. The amendment, as now proposed, however, retains this defense for all employers of less than four employees.

It is believed that these amendments, or either of them, would result in bringing under the compensation act practically all employers engaged in what are known as hazardous occupations or occupations in which industrial accidents are not infrequent.

From the practical standpoint of an employer or an employee, probably the most important amendment to the compensation act is that which changes the schedule of payments to injured workmen or their heirs. A new schedule of specific amounts paid for specific injuries, such as the loss of an arm, hand, eye, etc., has been worked out along scientific lines under the industrial commission's direction. This schedule, as at present proposed, is the only one of its kind in America, other states having accepted without question a schedule not based on facts or necessities. The schedule proposed by the industrial commission, grants compensation for a definite number of weeks in fifty different varieties of injuries. A specific number of weeks compensation, for instance, automatically goes to the workman who loses the index finger at the proximal joint and a specific amount to the man who loses the ring finger at the distal joint. Practically every contingency in injuries to hands is covered in the proposed schedule.

Increased Compensation. Another exceedingly important amendment, as proposed, is designed to provide increased compensation to workmen who are permanently totally incapacitated for work. In connection with this amendment, the industrial commission makes the following comment in the printed notes provided in connection with the bill: "This amendment increases compensation for permanent total disability to one and one half times the death benefit. A man who is totally incapacitated for life is a burden to his family, and the situation of his dependents is much worse than if he had been killed. On this ground, higher compensation for permanent total disability than for death is at once justified. Illinois, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, Rhode Island and Washington. Out of 8,000 accidents in Wisconsin last year no more than six persons were totally permanently disabled. This provision will not increase compensation more than 2 per cent."

Another important amendment provides penalties for employers who fail to obey the law in regard to protection against accidents. In cases where an employee suffers injury because his employer has not provided a safeguard as required by law, the employer must pay an additional 15 per cent compensation to the injured man. This penalty, however, is balanced by an equal penalty on the employee who is injured through his own failure to make use of the safeguard or who is found to have been in an intoxicated condition at the time of the accident.

Railroad Trainmen. Special provision is made in a new amendment for increased compensation for railroad trainmen. This increase is based on the generally accepted belief that trainmen are engaged in an extra hazardous occupation and that the hazards which they face are beyond their control.

The proposed amendments of the commission include changes designed to strengthen the insurance features of the act. In its notes, accompanying the bill, the commission states definitely that mutual companies, organized by employers, are the best means of carrying the risk under the compensation act. Three of these companies now exist in Wisconsin.

The amendments, as introduced by the assembly committee, have already been discussed at length in conferences during the last few weeks between the industrial commission and various organizations. The committee of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of Milwaukee, the Wisconsin Manufacturers' Association, the Federated Trades Council of Milwaukee and the Merchants' Federation of Labor, all have held conferences on the proposed changes and the commission has acted largely on proposals made at these meetings. The commission has also called in several experts on laws relating to insurance, negligence, etc.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

SUPPERS.

(By Howard L. Hann.)

SUPPER is an emaciated substitute for a full meal which contains nothing that will interrupt the flow of conversation or impede the alimentary tract, as it usually consists of something that has kicked around the house for several days without being set upon by any of the members of the family.

It takes the place of a remnant sale in the home circle and is highly prized by housekeepers who are not hungry themselves. The supper table is always a melancholy sight in homes where dinner is served at noon. What is left over from dinner is manipulated into a close resemblance to food, decorated with a sprig of mint and eaten with averted eyes. Every once in a while some member of the family will detect the flavor of something that was served the first of the week, which causes him to expostulate in a loud voice and fill up on soda crackers. The theory of supper is that nobody should eat anything before retiring, for fear of being attacked by a spirited nightmare.

There are two kinds of supper—church and lap. The church supper is a soul-satisfying combination by which a tight brother can eat for 25 cents what it has cost 65 cents and several cases of nervous prostration to produce. It is nothing uncommon for a zealous, absent-minded member of the official board to attend a fifteen cent supper and while in a reverie eat a pound and a half of creamery butter, quoted on the Elgin market at 40 cents per pound. This is one reason why so many earnest sister's advocate a per capita tax upon the male membership.

The lap supper is a nervous arrangement which was designed primarily for the express purpose of humiliating bowlegged men. The guests are lined up around the room and showered with crockery and silverware, which are allowed to recline on a napkin draped over the knees at a down grade of about 40 per cent. This causes the guests to toe in with such ardor and lean forward occasionally to see if the coffee has gotten down to their oxfoes yet. People who perpetrate lap suppers should be punished by a fine or imprisonment or both—preferably both.

Were Substantial Men. A curious old document dated at West Point, August 19, 1783, gives the weight of several distinguished officers at the end of the Revolution, as follows: General Washington, 209 pounds; General Lincoln, 224 pounds; General Knox, 180; Colonel Henry Jackson, 238; Colonel Swift, 219, and Colonel Michael Jackson, 252 pounds.

She sank into the deep snow exhausted and died in a few minutes.

PLAN KITCHEN BUILDING FOR WOMEN'S DORMITORIES [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Feb. 11.—The university regents have decided to erect a central kitchen building in which is to be done all the cooking for the dining rooms in the two women's dormitories, Chadbourne and Barnard halls, and the women's building—Lathrop hall. Greater efficiency and economy will be possible with this central kitchen building, which will be constructed just north of the new women's dormitory—Barnard hall. The bid for the new building, which was opened today, indicate that the cost will be approximately $11,000.

Heart to Heart Talks

STOCK SPECULATION AND MORALS.

In the money trust investigation Mr. F. K. Sturgis, former president of the New York Stock Exchange, was on the stand. He was questioned as to "washed sales" and "matched orders."

It may be briefly explained that these are Wall street terms descriptive of crooked practices used to create a fictitious activity in certain stocks. The object is to make the dear public—the "lambs"—buy.

When asked as to whether or not he approved these practices Mr. Sturgis replied:

I approve of transactions that pay their proper commissions and are properly transacted. You are asking me a moral question, and I am giving you a Stock Exchange answer.

Frank, to say the least! Also cynical!

By implication it admits that morals have nothing to do with the Stock Exchange.

Some of us suspected as much before. Now we have it from one on the inside.

This should be a warning to every one who harbors even a dream of ever gambling in stocks.

Avoid it as you would any other shell game or confidence bank.

In the expressive language of the street, it is not on the level.

Wall street only thrives on the poor innocents of whom it is said that "one is born every minute."

The whole play is to "fleece the lambs."

Don't be one of the fleeced. The cynical answer of this former Stock Exchange head reveals much. It is easy to imagine brokers flubbed by the same spirit taking the money of poor dupes and then laughing in their sleeves at the number of suckers in the world.

There are several ways to stop stock gambling. It should be done by law. But in the absence of law there is another way:

That is for the public to stop patronizing it.

Don't play another man's game, especially if you have good reason to believe that he uses crooked methods.

Not only are the chances all against you, but it is a moral certainty that you will be beaten in the end.

Stock gambling is a game, and the people that flatter about it are moths that get their wings singed.

Don't be a moth.

Fellow Feline. Wilhelm, the wax, approached me yesterday and inquired:

"Do kittens that have been mauled and teased in their infancy become maultee cats in their advanced years?"

And then when I looked upon him in scorn he added:

SECURES ACTION ON COTTON CORNER

W. Marshall Bullitt.

Complying with the request of Solicitor General Bullitt, the United States supreme court has ordered the federal court of southern New York to try at once the case against James Patton, Eugene G. Seaks, Frank B. Byrne and William T. Brown, indicted on a charge of conspiracy to corner cotton. The lower court originally held that the indictment did not state an offense under the Sherman anti-trust law, but this ruling was reversed by the higher tribunal.

Solicitor General Bullitt's wish to have the case tried at once is due to the fact that the statute of limitations will run before long, and if the indictment is held bad on points not concerning the construction of the Sherman anti-trust law it will be necessary to bring new indictments.

When Burton Holmes recently gave his celebrated travelogue on "Panama" at Orchestra Hall, Chicago, he was seriously interrupted by continual coughing of the audience. Many a good sermon, lecture or concert, is spoiled in the same way. No one annoys willingly and if people with coughs, colds, hoarseness and tickling in throat would use Foley's Honey & Tar Compound, they could quickly cure their coughs and colds and avoid this annoyance. It is a splendid household medicine and contains no opiates. Badger Drug Co.

DOING is the great thing. For it is the only thing that people do that is right, in time they come to like doing it. —Ruskin.

THREE MEALS A DAY.

To plan meals for three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, three times a day, is no small task. To have well-balanced, well-served meals, well within the income, providing variety and leaving nothing wasted is yet another task which is the daily problem of thousands of women each day. Economy does not mean spending little; it means getting the best returns for the money spent. There is no better field for wise spending than for the table. Good food is essential for the physical health, not to speak of the mental and moral growth, which is no doubt largely dependent upon the right kind of food.

Oyster and Celery Soup.—Cook a cup of finely cut celery in boiling water until tender, add a well seasoned oyster stew with a few chopped oysters.

Hamburg Steak.—Press a strip of meat through an oblong of chopped meat to represent a bone, then a second long strip around the edge to look like the fat on the edge of a porterhouse. Cook in a very hot pan and arrange potato balls around the steak as it lays on a hot platter.

Baltimore Pudding.—Take half a cupful of each of molasses, milk and chopped beef suet, one and one-half cups of flour, one cup of chopped raisins, juice and rind of a lemon, half a teaspoonful of soda, a teaspoonful of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of cloves and mace and a teaspoonful of cinnamon. Mix well and steam five hours.

Dainty Salad.—Remove the seeds from white or green grapes and arrange on lettuce leaves with French dressing. Over them put cream cheese put through a ricer. Serve very cold.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BROADENING ONES SYMPATHIES.
THE more we know the better we forgive. Whoever feels deeply feels for all who live. —Madame de Staël.

It has often surprised me to find that women who towards their own family and their own intimates are the most tender-hearted and sympathetic creatures in the world, are sometimes lacking in human feelings towards all outside of that narrow circle, especially towards those in the so-called "lower classes."

I am thinking of a certain woman who is self-sacrificing to a fault towards her own brood and cannot do too much for them. From seeing her in her family circle I had imagined her to be full of charity and kindness to all the world. Now I happened to be at her house one morning when the young woman who does the washing failed to appear on the scene. Instead she sent a message to the effect that she was obliged to stay with her mother who was seriously ill with acute indigestion. She said she would come just as soon as possible.

I expected to find my friend full of sympathy. Instead she said fretfully, "Well, isn't that annoying. I should think she might have found someone to stay with her mother. She knows how it puts me out to have my washing late."

Just think of that! Suppose one of that woman's children had been seriously ill and needed her on the day that she had some engagement; the breaking of which would inconvenience the other party. Can you imagine her getting someone else to stay with the child while she kept the engagement? I can't. And yet, just because the washer-woman belonged to another class, she thought the poor girl ought to put her own mother first.

Again, I know a young matron who is ridiculously helpless in taking care of her two babies. She has two maids to help her with the children and the household. Finding that she was to be without a nursery-maid for a week, she engaged an accommodator to fill in the terrible gap. The accommodator sent word a few days beforehand that she could not come, because her married sister needed her, as her three babies were ill and she had no one to help her. And can you believe it, that woman who could not take care of her two healthy babies with the help of one maid, thought it absurd that the other woman needed someone to help her with three sick children.

An expression told me that a woman who is supposed to be a very kind-hearted person actually told me to carry in the trunks so that his hands and feet be believed with paper would get jammed.

To be sympathetic and tender-hearted towards those near and dear to you is certainly a virtue. But I can't think it counts for very much if it is counterbalanced by a total lack of human feeling for those outside the charmed circle.

Remember, "He who feels deeply, feels for all who live."

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR
ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT "DANDERINE."

Save your hair! Danderine destroys dandruff and stops falling hair at once—Grows Hair, we prove it—Absolutely Harmless

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots furnish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of what you desire, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair, you must use Knowlton's Danderine. It eventually—why not now? A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN
by Barbara Boyd

Cupid "Meets Up" with St. Valentine

CUPID was busy looking over his arrows, mending the points of some, and hustling his man of all work to get out the bundles of new ones kept stored in a closet for an unexpected rush of business.

The man of all work was grumbling a little at having to toil so hard; for his muscles had grown dabby of late, and he had acquired the habit of idleness.

"Business must be looking up," said a stout, old fellow, pausing to watch Cupid's operations.

"It is," replied Cupid, critically examining a long, stout arrow. "It has been bad lately, owing to the high cost of living. But there's always one day when I can count on a good trade,—the fourteenth of February."

The other's eye twinkled. "Is that so? Well now, I should have thought in this practical age, St. Valentine's Day would be passed unnoticed."

"One would think so," replied Cupid. "But it isn't. Algernon passes a window, and sees some candy or flowers, or a book or picture expressing a valentine sentiment; and he begins to think of Angelina, of her saucy smile, or the rough way she looks at him from under her long lashes, and then of her sweetness, or her thoughtfulness, or gentleness or other good traits, and his heart begins to glow, and he goes into the shop and sends her a valentine."

"And Angelina gets it; and she wonders if Algernon sent it, and she begins to ponder on his manliness, and his fire, sense of honor, and other good qualities, and then, 'I get in my work,' concluded Cupid, laying aside a slender arrow with a point like a needle.

"St. Valentine's Day is a very good thing," he went on. "It gives to sentiment a halo of romance and a flavor of the mysterious, that makes it flourish in the heart like a bay tree, for the time being, at any rate. And the human race needs something to revive its love of sentiment. I am glad not only from the point of my own business, but for the sake of humanity, that St. Valentine's Day was instituted and that it is still observed."

The other laughed a soft, mellow laugh. "I am St. Valentine," he said. "And the last thing I expected was to be connected up with anything of this sort. But maybe to be remembered in this way, does more good than would some of the things really associated with me."

"You're right," said Cupid, nodding his curly head, gravely. "Of late years, people have been putting it over me rather hard. But nevertheless, love is the greatest thing in the world, and the greatest joy in life,—real love, I mean, the right kind, the sort whose virus I inject into the point of my arrows. And anything that awakens it or fosters it, is doing a worthy work. I am proud to know you. It is strange we haven't met before, since we are both interested in the same line of goods. But I must be going. I have a busy day. Come!" he called to his man of all work.

"Bring along several bundles of those arrows, and keep plenty of reserve supply where I can get at them quickly."

The man slowly and grudgingly obeyed. "It's all nonsense," he muttered. "He'll waste a lot of good arrows for nothing, and then I'll have to make more."

TALKS WITH MOTHERS
By GERTRUDE STEVENS AYEES.

Training for the Expected Baby.

The Day Nursery.
The mother in charge of a day nursery within reach of your home would undoubtedly be glad of your volunteer work in caring for the children placed in her care. You may not obtain instruction in the most approved methods but you will be learning to handle the little ones, do the simple things necessary for every baby's comfort and if you have, or can cultivate, a watchful eye you will soon find yourself adopting new methods resulting from your own observation of cause and effect.

The Children's Hospital.
In most of the large cities there are Maternity Hospitals and institutions for the treatment of children's diseases where the nurses would welcome the interested, intelligent woman to relieve them for a little while, particularly in amusing those who are convalescing. There was a society of young women in New York City who, before marriage, did this very thing and many found in after years the experience gained to be of inestimable value in caring for and understanding their own children.

Borrow Your Friend's Baby.
If these two means of study and experience are not within reach, or if you are unable to obtain them, borrow your friend's baby. This is just where many mothers allow so-called "mother instinct" to do the work of intelligence.

Many a child's disposition has been ruined by ill-considered interpretation of infant sign language.

Infant Sign Language.
Of what material and sizes should the diapers be to be quickly absorbent and most comfortable for baby?

How should they be cleaned and cared for to insure no irritation?

Should a child be diapered in the mother's lap or laid comfortably on bed or table?

Is it not possible that injury, more or less permanent might be done the child by lifting it many times a day by the ankles, one or both?

How early can a child be trained to use a nursery chair?

Is there any better solution to the diaper problem than has already been offered the busy mother?

A fortune awaits you if you can commercially launch a practical idea on this last subject.

This talk so far has been mostly on actually caring for the individual child but it is just as important for the expectant mother to observe and learn by actual experience to interpret the sign language of babyhood. This is just where many mothers allow so-called "mother instinct" to do the work of intelligence.

Many a child's disposition has been ruined by ill-considered interpretation of infant sign language.

one tablespoonful of butter, two tablespoonfuls of milk or cream, two eggs and some pepper.

Soak and pick into tiny bits the codfish and cook with about four potatoes or enough to make a pint when mashed. When the potatoes are tender drain well, mash and add butter, pepper and milk. Beat until very light and fine. Add the well beaten eggs when cool.

If the mixture is not very soft and creamy, add a little more milk. Use the spider and well greased with lard or fat, put in the potato mixture, spread well, and cook slowly until a nice brown crust has formed. Then loosen the edges and turn over half, as in omelet, and serve on a hot platter. One half cup of finely chopped nuts may be used instead of codfish, or one egg used and no milk and dropped from the spoon into hot deep fat as croquettes or slipped into flat cakes and browned on each side in a hot greased spider.

Some Reasons For Lenten Dishes.
Lent means a great deal more than simply religious rites and ceremonies. Even though we may have no church creed to live up to, which requires cessation from pleasures and rich foods, it is wise from a health standpoint to have this rest and quiet.

In cold and winter months heavy meats, rich gravies and pastries are eaten. A reasonable amount of it can be very well taken care of if one is active. But every one is not and the body becomes clogged and if rich foods are continued during spring months, we have what is generally known as "spring fever."

No reason for it at all, and Lent is the time to clear the body by eating more vegetables and nuts than meat; dandelions, also onions, spinach and rhubarb. These are nature's special foods for cleansing the system.

If this is done I'll defy "spring fever" and colds to put in an appearance. Use fruits plentifully, oranges, grape fruit, bananas and prunes; these are not only used for the sake of economy and health, but prepared in appetizing dishes prove tempting to the appetite during the spring months. Remember anything which helps us physically also helps us mentally and mentally.

LENTEN RECIPES.
Baked Halibut.
Materials—Six slices of bacon, one small onion, one-half a bay leaf, two pounds of fresh halibut, three tablespoonfuls of butter, three tablespoonfuls of flour, white bread or cracker crumbs three quarters of a cup and slices of lemon, parsley and paprika.

Arrange the slices of bacon on the bottom of the dripping pan, slice the onion over these and add the bit of bay leaf. Wipe the halibut with a damp cloth and place over bacon and onions. Cream the butter, add milk with the flour, and mask or spread over the fish, top and sides; sprinkle with fine white bread or cracker crumbs, cover with buttered paper and bake forty minutes in a moderate oven, removing the paper the last fifteen minutes for browning.

Serve on hot dish and garnish with slices of lemon, sprinkled with finely chopped parsley.

A rich biscuit dough made with cream instead of milk and spread over the top may be used with fine success instead of butter and flour.

All measurements level unless otherwise stated.

Codfish Omelet.
Materials—One half cupful of codfish, two cupfuls of mashed potatoes, you suggest anything for me to do with this.

(1)—A healthy person will always get rosy cheeks when exercising in the cold. The red-nosed one perhaps does not exercise enough.

(2)—You probably discouraged him pretty thoroughly in the beginning. All you can do now is to be very sweet and companionable, so that he may feel he simply can't live any longer without you. Some time you might tell him that you used to think people ought not to marry young, but since you have noticed how very happy your friends are, who have married early, you're almost begun to think you were wrong.

It is a serious matter when the lungs are affected. A trip away to a sanatorium is not only expensive, but it involves separation from home and friends. Some are benefited, but few are cured. Dr. J. In the fall of 1906 I contracted a very severe cold, which settled on my lungs. At first I began to raise a mild cough, but it soon became a full-blown cough. I was advised to take Ayer's Lung Tonic. I began to take it in the first week of January, and the next week I began to improve, and my regular occupation, having gained so much, I was able to resume it. The Best Cough Syrup is Easily Made at Home
Come Little and Acts Quickly. Money Refunded If It Fails.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup, and saves you about $2.00 as compared with ordinary cough remedies. It stops obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—in a hurry, and is splendid for sore lungs, asthma, croup, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (2 cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. Tastes good.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite, and is slightly laxative—both excellent features.

Pinex, as perhaps you know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualaid and the other natural healing pine elements.

No other preparation will do the work of Pinex in this recipe, although strained honey can be used in-laid of the sugar syrup, if desired.

Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe. This plan has often been initiated, but the old successful formula has never been equalled. Its low cost and quick results have made it immensely popular.

A guarantee of absolute anti-fraud, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Scalp Eczema for About Five Years. Form of Ringworm. Thick, Rough Scale. Entirely Well After Using Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

Iberia, Mo.—"I was troubled with scalp eczema for about five years and tried everything I heard of but all of no avail. The doctors told me I would have to have my head shaved. Being a woman I hated the idea of that."

"I was told by a friend that the Cuticura Remedies would do me good. This spring I purchased two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap. After using one box of Cuticura Ointment I considered the cure permanent, but continued to use it to make sure and used one-half the other box. Now I am entirely well. I also used the Cuticura Soap."

"The disease began on the back of my head, taking the form of a ringworm only more severe, rising to a thick, rough scale that would come off when soaked with oil or warm water, bringing a few hairs each time, but in a few days would form again, larger each time, and spreading until the entire back of the head was covered with the scale. This was accompanied by a terrible itching and burning sensation. Now my head is completely well and my hair growing nicely." (Signed) Mrs. G. F. Clark, Mar. 25, 1912.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams

BY WALT MASON

It's easy to be a success, as thousands of winners confess; no man's so obscure or unlucky or poor that he can't be a winner, I guess. And success, Mr. Man, doesn't mean a roll that would stagger a queen, or some genius of your own, or a palace of stone, or the luxury of a bus, or a gasolene. A man's a success, though, when he doesn't place on his forehead a crown, if he pays as he goes, if it's true that he owes not a cent to the future.

IN LIFE dodged down. A man's a success if his wife finds this social a success. Everyone cordially invited.

Life: if she's glad and content, that she married a man's success if his kids are joyous as Katy H. Dids; if there are flowers and meat, with good shoes on their feet, and roses and things on their lips. A man's a success if he tries to be honest and kindly and wise; if he's slow to repeat all the lies he may meet, if he swats both the scoundrels and flies. I know, when old Gaffer Pete Gray one morning was taken away, by Death, lantern-jawed, the whole village howled, and mourned him for many a day. Yet he was so poor that he had but seldom the half of a loaf; he tried to do good in such ways as he could—he was a successful old lad.

HEADACHE A BAR TO SUCCESS

Headache is nature's signal of physical debility—a handicap in life's race.

HICKS' CAPUDINE cures headache—removes the cause, whether heat, cold, nervousness or grip. Liquid, pleasant to take, quickly effective. 10c, 25c and 50c at drug stores.

Clogged Bowels a Menace to Health

Constipation at Bottom of Most Serious Illnesses—Avoided by a Simple Remedy.

Trace the origin of the commoner ills of life and almost invariably you will find that constipation was the cause. It is not to be expected that a mass of fermented food can remain in the system beyond its time without vitiating the blood and affecting the nerves and muscles. It congests the entire body.

The results are colds, fevers, piles, headaches and nervousness with its accompanying indigestion and sleeplessness. There is only one thing to do and that is to remove the trouble; and when nature seems unable to do it, outside aid is necessary. You will find the best of all outside aids a remedy that many thousands are now using for this very purpose, called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Many hundreds of letters are received by Dr. Caldwell telling of the good results obtained, and among the enthusiastic letters is one from Docia Wood of Little River Academy, North Carolina, who suffered with constipation and indigestion so badly that she could not sleep well at night and everything she ate distressed her. She writes that after her mother had given her Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin "she can now eat anything."

It has untold advantages over pills, salts and the various coarse cathartics and purgatives, for while these do but temporary good, Syrup Pepsin cures permanently. The effect of its action is to train the stomach and bowels to do their work naturally.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

TORTURED BY UGLY ITCHING ERUPTION

Doctor Recommended Resinol. Half of a 50c Jar Cured It.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 5, 1912.—"My little daughter was taken with a very small spot on the back of her hand. It grew larger and caused her more trouble. When she would scratch it, it would bleed and get very ugly looking, so I doctored it myself for about a year, and at last it broke out on both knees, and when she would go to bed she would scratch, and was so tortured and suffered so from the itching, that I took her to our doctor, who recommended Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment."

Improved with first application

"I sent for samples and after the first application the itching and inflammation was improved, and I kept it up night and morning, and by the time the sample was gone she complained very little, so I got a fifty-cent jar, and before that was half gone the trouble had entirely disappeared." (Signed) Mrs. Maude Schmechel, 2737 Presbury Street.

Nothing we can say of Resinol equals what others, such as Mrs. Schmechel, say of it. If you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, blackheads, dandruff, chapped face and hands, ulcers, boils, suborn sores, or piles, it will cost you nothing to try Resinol Ointment and Soap. Just send to Dept. 7-T, Resinol Chem. Co., Baltimore, Md., for a free sample of each. Sold by all druggists.

The STOLEN SINGER

by MARTNA DELLINGER

COPYRIGHT 1912, THE DOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

"Some of those Hungarian 'things' are jolly and funny, even though you can't understand the words. Makes you want to dance or sing yourself." Aleck groaned, but Melanie began to sing, with Jones hovering around the piano. By the time Melanie had sung everybody's favorites, excluding Aleck's, Mr. Chamberlain rose to depart. He was an Englishman, a serious, heavy gentleman, very loyal to old friends and very slow in making new ones. He made an engagement to dine with Aleck on the following evening, and, as he went out, threw back to the remaining gentlemen an offer of seats in his machine.

"I ought to go," said Jones. "But if Van Camp will stay, I will. That is," he added with belated punctiliousness, "if the ladies will permit?"

"Thank you, Chamberlain, I'm walking," drawled Aleck, then turning to the company with his cheerful grin he stated quite impersonally: "I was thinking of staying long enough to put one question—er, a matter of some little importance—to Miss Reynier. When she gives me the desired information, I shall go."

"Me, too," chirped Mr. Lloyd-Jones. "I came expressly to talk over that plan of building up friendly adjoining estates out in Idaho; sort of private shooting and hunting park, you know. And I haven't had a minute to say a word." Jones suddenly began to feel himself aggrieved. As the door closed after Chamberlain, Melanie motioned them back to their seats.

"It's not so very late," she said easily. "Come back and make yourselves comfortable, and I'll listen to both of you," she said with a demure little devil in her eye. "I haven't seen you for ages, and I don't know when the good moment will come again." She included the two men in a friendly smile, waved a hand toward the waiting chairs, and adjusted a light shawl over the shoulders of Madame Reynier.

But Aleck by this time had the bit in his teeth and would not be coaxed. His ordinarily cool eye rested wrathfully on the broad shoulders of Mr. Lloyd-Jones, who was lighting a cigarette, and he turned abruptly to Miss Reynier. His voice was as serious as if parliament, at least, had been hanging on his words.

"May I call tomorrow, Miss Reynier, at about twelve?"

"Oh, I say," put in Jones, "all of you come to luncheon with me at the Little Gray Fox—will you? Capital place, and all sorts of nice people. Do come. About one."

Van Camp could have slain him. "I think my proposition a prior one," he remarked with dogged precision; "but, of course, Miss Reynier must decide." He recovered his temper enough to add, quite pleasantly, considering the circumstances, "Unless Madame Reynier will take my part," turning to the older woman.

"Oh, no, not fair," shouted Jones. "Madame Reynier's always on my side. Aren't you, Madame?"

Madame Reynier smiled inscrutably. "I'm always on the side of virtue in distress," she said.

"That's me, then, isn't it? The way you're abusing me, Mademoiselle, listening here to Van Camp all the evening!"

But Melanie, tired, perhaps, of being patiently tactful, settled the matter. "I can't go to luncheon with anybody tomorrow," she protested. "I've had a touch of that arch-enemy, indigestion, you see; and I can't do anything but my prescribed exercises, nor drink anything but distilled water."

"Nor eat anything but food! We know," cried the irrepressible Jones. "But the Little Gray Fox has a special diet for just such cases as yours. Do come!"

"Heavens! Then I don't want to go there!" groaned Aleck.

Melanie gave Jones her hand, half in thanks and half in farewell. "No, thank you, not tomorrow, but sometime soon; perhaps Thursday. Will that do?" she smiled. Then, as Jones was discontentedly lounging about the door, she did a pretty thing. Turning from the door, she stood with face averted from everybody except Van Camp, and for an instant her eyes met his in a friendly, half-humorous but wholly non-committal glance. His eyes held hers in a look that was like an embrace.

"I will see you soon," she said quietly.

Van Camp said good-night to Jones at the corner, after they had walked together in silence for half a block.

"Good-night, Van Camp," said Jones, then he added cordially: "By the way, I'm going back next week in my private car to watch the opening of the Liza Lu, and I'd be mighty glad if you'd go along. Anything else to do?"

"Thanks—extremely; but I'm going on a cruise."

As Aleck entered the plausibly exclusive hall of the club his good nature came to his aid. He wondered whether he hadn't scored something, after all.

CHAPTER V.

Melanie's Dreams.

Midnight and the relaxation of slumber could subtract nothing from the high-browed dignity of the club officials, and the message that was waiting for Mr. Van Camp was delivered in the most correct manner. "Mr. Hamblen sends word to Mr. Van Camp that he has gone away on the Jeanne D'Arc. Mr. Hamblen may not be back for some time, and requests Mr. Van Camp to look after the Sea Gull."

"Very well, thank you," replied Aleck, rather absent-mindedly. He was unable to see, immediately, just what change in his own plans this sudden turn of Jim's would cause; and he was for the moment too deeply preoccupied with his own personal affairs to speculate much about it. His thoughts went back to the events of the evening, recalled the picture of his Diana and her teasing ways, and dwelt especially upon the honest, friendly, wholly bewitching look that had shone to him at the end of the evening. Absurd as his own attempt at a declaration had been, he somehow felt that he himself was not absurd in Melanie's eyes, though he was far from certain whether she was inclined to marry him.

Aleck, on his part, had not come to his decision suddenly or impulsively; nor, having arrived there, was he to be turned from it easily. True as it was that he sincerely and affectionately desired Melanie Reynier for a wife, yet on the whole he was a very cool Romeo. He was manly, but he was calculating; he was honorably disposed toward matrimony, but he was not reborn with love. And so, in the sober bedroom of the club, he quickly fell into the good sleep induced by fatigue and healthy nerves.

Morning brought counsel and a disposition to renew operations. A note was dispatched to her Diana by a private messenger, and the boy was bidden to wait for an answer. It came presently:

"Come at twelve, if you wish."

"MELANIE REYNIER."

Aleck smiled with satisfaction. Here was a wise venture going through happily, he hoped. He was pleased that she had named the very hour he had asked for the night before. That was like her good, frank way of meeting a situation, and it augured well for the unknown emergencies of their future life. He had little patience with timidity and traditional coyness in women, and great admiration for an open and fearless spirit. Melanie's note almost set his heart thumping.

But not quite; and no one understood the cool nature of that organ better than Melanie herself. The ladies in the apartment at the Arcangel had lingered at their breakfast, the austerity of which had been mitigated by a center decoration of orchids and fern, fresh-touched with dew; or so Madame Reynier had described them to Melanie, as she brought them to her with the card of Mr. Lloyd-Jones. Miss Reynier smiled faintly, admired the blossoms and turned away.

The ladies usually spoke French with each other, though occasionally Madame Reynier dropped into the harsher speech of her native country. On this morning she did this, telling Melanie, for the tenth time in as many days, that in her opinion they ought to be going home. Madame considered this her duty, and felt no real responsibility after the statement was made. Nevertheless, she was glad to find Melanie disposed to discuss the matter a little further.

"Do you wish to go home, Auntie, or is it that you think I ought to go?"

"I don't wish to go without you, child, you know that; and I am very comfortable here. But his Highness, your cousin, is very impatient; I see that in every letter from Krolvetz. You offended him deeply by putting off your marriage to Count Lorenzo, and every day now deepens his indignation against you. I don't like to discuss these things, Melanie, but I suspect that your action deprives him of a very necessary revenue; and I understand, better than you do, to what lengths your cousin is capable of going when he is displeased. You are, by the law of your country, his ward until you marry. Would it not be better to submit to him in friendship, rather than to incur his enmity? After all, he is your next of kin, the head of your family, and a very powerful man. If we are going home at all, we ought to go now."

"But suppose we should decide not to go home at all?"

"You will have to go some time, dear child. You are all alone, except for me, and in the nature of things you can't have me always. Now that you are young, you think it an easy thing to break away from the ties of blood and birth; but believe me, it isn't easy. You, with your nature, could never do it. The call of the land is strong, and the time will come when you will long to go home, long to go back to the land where your father led his soldiers, and where your mother was admired and loved."

Madame Reynier paused and watched her niece, who, with eyes cast down, was toying with her spoon. Suddenly a crimson flush rose, and spread over Melanie's cheeks and forehead and neck, and when she looked up into Madame Reynier's face, she was gazing through unshed tears. She rose quickly, came round to the older woman's chair and kissed her cheek affectionately.

"Deceptive Dress."

Possibly, however, the average student is smarter than he looks in a cap and gown.—Atchison Globe.

Musterole Better Than Mustard Plaster!

MUSTEROLE is oil of mustard combined with other simples used in home medicine.

It is a clean, white ointment that you rub on—and the pain is gone!

No plaster—no mess—no blister! It does all the work of the good old-fashioned mustard plaster, but does it better.

Millions of jars of MUSTEROLE are sold annually. Doctors and nurses recommend it to patients; it is constantly used in many of the large hospitals.

MUSTEROLE is what Twentieth Century science has made of the remedy that your mother and grandmother depended on. It gives instant relief from Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma,

"OH! - - OH!"

Try "GETS-IT," the Painless New-Plan Corn Cure. See Your Corns Vanish in a Hurry.

"Where! hurry way to my heart. I've tried almost everything for corns!" Corn-sufferers, needless joy is at hand: "GETS-IT" is the only corn enemy any corn ever had. For "GETS-IT" on in 2 seconds, and away they go, shrivel, vanish. No more corn-pain, no more blisters to stop circulation and stick to the stocking, no more knives to turn the flesh raw and make the corn "melt," no more knives or razors with danger of bleeding and blood poisoning.

"GETS-IT" is painless, stops pain, and is absolutely harmless to healthy flesh. Warts and bunions disappear. "GETS-IT" gives immediate relief.

"GETS-IT" is sold at druggists at 25 cents a bottle, or sent on receipt of price to E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Jansville by Meigs & Russ, Smith Drug Co., Retail Drug Co., J. P. Baker & Son.

"Dear Auntie, you are very good to me, and patient, too. It's all true, I suppose; but the prospect of home and Count Lorenzo together—ah, well!" she smiled reassuringly and again caressed Madame Reynier's gaunt old face. "I'll think it all over, Auntie dear."

Madame Reynier followed Melanie into her sitting-room, bringing the precious orchids in her two hands, fearful lest the fragile vase should fall. Melanie regarded them a moment, and then said she thought they would do better in the drawing-room.

"I sometimes think the little garden pink quite as pretty as an orchid."

"They aren't so much in Mr. Lloyd-Jones' style as these," replied Madame Reynier. She had a faculty of commenting pleasantly without the least hint of criticism. This remark delighted Melanie.

"No; I should never picture Mr. Lloyd-Jones as a garden pink. But then, Auntie, you remember how eloquent he was about the hills and the stars. That speech did not at all indicate a bohemian nature."

"Nevertheless, I think his sentiments have been cultivated, like his orchids."

"Not a bad achievement," said Melanie.

There was an interval of silence, while the younger woman stood looking out of the window and Madame Reynier cut the leaves of a French journal. She did not read, however, and presently she broke the silence.

"I don't remember that Mr. Van Camp ever sent orchids to you."

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

FIGS AS LAXATIVE.

Dr. C. S. Carr says: "Being inclined to constipation, I am continually managing my diet to regulate the bowels. Just now I am obtaining splendid results by eating two or three figs with my breakfast, the Smyrna pulled figs. I take pains to chew the figs well, as they are quite tough and full of seeds. They produce a perfectly natural and adequate movement every day. I have never before found anything that so completely answers the purpose. With a cereal they make the best sort of a breakfast, easily digested and very nutritious." Bread and figs are as compatible as any two foods. The bread should be stale. Where the two-meal plan is followed, cereal with milk, cracked wheat or unpolished rice with a pint of milk, will furnish the necessary flesh forming element with that contained in the figs and bread, for the adult. The amount required will depend upon the size, age, temperament and work done.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Do not quarrel, and especially avoid legal tangles. You can afford to let trifles go, for some real success is in store for you. If in employ you will be advanced.

Those born today will have brilliant minds, much given to reflection. They will reason things out and arrive at the correct conclusions alone, but will be impatient with others who have not their power. They will succeed materially, and if they learn patience with the faults of others, they will hold high places in public life.

Heaviest Tax.

Idleness and pride tax with a heavier hand than kings and parliaments. If we can get rid of the former we may easily bear the latter—Benjamin Franklin, Letter on the Stamp Act, 1765.

Stop That Cough In A Minute
Would you give morphine or chloroform to your baby or take it yourself? Of course not. Yet most patent cough cures contain one or both. They stop a cough in a minute, which is dangerous. A cough should be cured internally by healing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, throwing it out, which is done by coughing. Badger Cough Balsam does not contain morphine or chloroform. It is made by percolation from bloodroot, lobelia, pine bark, wild cherry, etc. It cures a cough in a few days without filling the lungs with poisonous phlegm. The irritation is relieved, the lungs healed without danger of pneumonia. It's safe for children or old people. Get a bottle today for 25 cents. Badger Cough Balsam is made by Mr. Pfenig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River Sts.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Feb. 11, 1873.—Dr. J. W. St. John has returned from the east, arriving last Saturday night. As we intimated he might be, the doctor is a benedict and Mary E. (Gibbs) St. John is the cause of it. It seems strange that he should be this for we have counted upon him, as one of our most steadfast and reliable hachelors, but it is almost difficult to know what to expect of a man after he has been exposed to a handsome woman. We met the doctor and his bride last evening and they seemed perfectly happy in their new relationship. May it ever be thus.
An alarm was caused about half past six o'clock this morning by the discovery of a fire in the upper portion of James Long's residence, corner of Center and Franklin streets, fourth ward. Water was placed upon the burning building within twenty minutes after the discovery and a larger portion was saved. Most of the furniture was removed. There was an insurance of $1,800 on the house and its contents. The cause of the fire was a defective flue in the chimney.
A movement is in progress to unite the two Episcopal church societies of this city into one parish.
Runaways have been so numerous today that we cannot devote to each one a separate paragraph.

Just Before the Fight.
"So you are on your way to propose to Miss Pickle?" "You bet! Wish me luck?" "Oh, I wish you luck, all right, but it won't do you a bit of good; I feel sure she is going to accept you."—Houston Post.
